

Dear Students,

Welcome to the course – RÄSE01 The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, Children's Rights, and Global Health

This course is delivered by the Sociology of Law Department (Rättssociologiska Institutionen) at Lund University and will run between the period of August 29 and October 28, 2022. The first meeting of the course is September 2 at 13:00-15:00 in Zoom. The course will be delivered in English and teaching will be entirely web based and communication, information and examination will take place on the online learning platform Canvas and ZOOM. If you have problems with Canvas or Zoom, contact Lu-servicedesk: servicedesk@lu.se or tel. 046-222 90 00

Student account. All new students receive log-in information at your Lund student e-mail (the e-mail that is registered at www.antagning.se). Please follow the instructions in the mail. If problems arise with your student account, please contact your LU service desk: servicedesk@lu.se or phone. +46 46 222 90 00. Read more about student account here: student account. If you previously have studied at Lund University, you already have a student account that you log onto at student account

Online registration. To be allowed to participate in the Course, you must ensure that you are registered on this course in Ladok. If you're not registered on the course, you risk losing your registration on the course. You enter via the Student Portal/Ladok <http://www.student.lu.se/uPortal/render.userLayoutRootNode.uP> and log in with your Student account. The web registration is open from Monday August 15 to Sunday August 30.

Canvas (<https://canvas.education.lu.se>) is Lund University's learning management platform. Here you can find information about your course, messages from your teachers as well as files and other things relevant to your course. For more information about the various functions in Canvas as well as how you can navigate in it please visit our Student Guide.

During the first week of the course, we would like you to access and get to know the platform (Canvas) and also create a presentation of yourselves - preferably with a photo. The presentation is required and fulfills two functions. Firstly, it gives students the opportunity to get a picture of your study colleagues - and hopefully to establish contact. Secondly, it gives us as course developers a picture of what our student group looks like. Therefore, please put some work into your presentation.

It is recommended to get familiar with the platform and test different features as soon as possible. Please contact your fellow students using the communication tool - it will be more interesting if you have someone to discuss relevant questions with throughout the course. In "Discussions" to the left you will meet with your classmates. There you control the content yourselves. The course platform opens on August 15.

ZOOM

We will use Zoom during the course. Attached is a manual for how to log in to Zoom. At the first meeting of the course (2/9 at 13.00-15.00) it is also possible to log in 60 minutes before the start to test Zoom. Course teachers will be online.

To withdraw from the course before all credits are taken. If you are not able to follow the course this semester then please remember that it is only the first time you are registered on a course, that you have the right to attend the lectures and get supervision.

Course-Syllabus, reading list and Schedule: Course page (The book "Understanding Norms" by Baier & Svensson will be available for you as pdf on Canvas.)

When you want to get in touch with the Course Staff, to ask questions, for example, please use the communication tool on the course platform. Our ambition is to provide quick answers. However, we would like to draw your attention to the fact that we usually do not work in the evenings nor weekends.

The main Teachers on the course are Anna Sonander and Per Wickenberg . If you have questions regarding course contents or other educational questions, please contact Anna Sonander, you reach her through the course platform.

What you need to do to get started:

- Activate your Student Account (Student Portal)
- Web Registration (Student Portal/Ldok)
<https://www.student.lu.se/uPortal/f/welcome/normal/render.uP> (The web registration is open from Monday August 15 to Sunday August 30)
